

ROLLING DEAD

RULES

It's happened! The world is infested with zombies, pushing human beings down the food ladder! In this dice game where reflexes rhyme with failure, you must fight to survive... or to eat!

1. Set up

Form the dice track and place it at an equal distance from each player.

Choose a color, take the two corresponding dices and pass the bracelet to the hand you'll attack with.

Each player places his hand with the bracelet next to one side of the track so his fingertips touch it. Unused dices are placed in order to be visible by all players, next to your hand and the track, as a color reminder in addition to the bracelet.

2. Epidemic

Each player has a Zombie dice and a Human dice. At the beginning of the game, everyone is human and plays with the Human dice. The Virus will designate the first infected player(s).

Human Zombie Virus

Everyone takes the Human dice in the hand that doesn't touch the track. The player who most looks like a zombie takes the Virus dice in addition to his/her own, and all players roll at the same time. When the Virus appears, each player who got the Human side is infected and must now play with the zombie dice for the rest of the game.

Infected players change dice, leaving their human dice visible, and the Virus dice is removed from the game. Now we're getting down to business!

3. Survival

Players roll their dice at the same time. Image associations indicate who is attacking or defending. Attacks and defenses are always made with the hand wearing the bracelet. Players defend by withdrawing their hand, and attack by touching their opponent's hand before he/she takes it off the table.

There are three combinations to remember. Is it easy? Let's find out...

A Zombie hears a Human

It's up to the yellow zombie to touch the blue human's hand!

A Zombie sees a Human

It's up to the red zombie to touch the black human's hand!

One more in the zombie army!

When a zombie succeeds in its attack, the human is transformed and changes his dice!

A Human blows up a Zombie

It's the pink human's turn to touch the green zombie's hand!

A good zombie is a dead zombie!

When a human succeeds in his attack, the zombie is eliminated from the game!

Warm-up over? Now it's no longer a joke!

4. No room for error!

In this apocalyptic world, there's no room for error. If you take your fingers off the table without good reason, you go from Human to Zombie, and from Zombie to Death! Still too easy? Maybe you're ready for the next part...

5. No mercy!

No more laughter! As if we were going to wait quietly for the transformations... In this game mode, it's possible to eliminate an opponent in the epidemic phase! If a baseball bat appears when a player is infected by the virus, the owner of the bat can attack the infected human.

It's the red human's turn to touch the green human's hand!

6. But when does it end?

If there are only humans left in the game, you roll the Virus die again to make zombies reappear. «But when there are only zombies?» you might ask... It's up to you: either the zombies have won and are living in harmony in this new world, or... they are hungry and become...

7. Cannibals!

The humans disappeared, but the zombies' hunger hasn't, so they're starting to eat each other! For some reasons, zombies love ears...

It's up to the yellow zombie to touch the red zombie's hand!

But some zombies have sharper eyes than others and attack on sight!

It's up to the pink zombie to touch the green zombie's hand!

8. No Brain No Gain !!

Only the best survivalists overcome No Brain No Gain... You think you're up to it? Zombies are now cannibals despite the presence of humans, who are themselves merciless! Good luck...
